OPPORTUNITY FOR SCHOLARSHIP

New Edelweiss Scholarship provides living-expense assistance for Outreach School students

In the spring 2010 semester, the University of Wyoming Outreach School will award a new scholarship to help pay an Outreach School student's living expenses while he or she pursues a college education. The Edelweiss Fund, created by an anonymous gift in fall 2008, aims to ease the financial burden of attending school for a select student for the duration of his or her degree program, up to six years. This includes expenses such as rent, utilities, and childcare.

To be eligible, students must:

- be a part- or full-time students enrolled in at least three credit hours through the University of Wyoming Outreach School
- be pursuing a University of Wyoming degree delivered through the Outreach School;
- be eligible for federal student financial aid through the University of Wyoming (must have filed a FAFSA for 2009-2010 prior to the application deadline; and
- have demonstrated promise of academic excellence.

Preference for the scholarship will be given to students newly or recently enrolled in an Outreach School academic program; non-traditional, female, "first-generation" students; single parents; and residents of Wyoming or those non-residents with unique ties to the state.
